LEADERS THIRTEENTH DAY SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST.

ated in this meeting at New York City. Further negotiations may be carried on with the Southern Pacific, the Santa Fe has not yet been definitely approached with a final proposition, according to the local management of that road.

It is believed that whatever comes out of the Southern Pacific might make the Salt Lake here, the Santa Fe the one to go to, and the Union Pacific, transconco, and the situation there.

C. O. Whittemore, assistant secretary of the Salt Lake road, is spending the summer with his family at Ocean Park.

Don Porter, owner of the Kenyon Hotel, Salt Lake, is a visitor to the city.

G. A. Wasman, of East Liverpool, O., representing the Pennsylvania Railroad with his family, is a recent arrival.

General Manager Wells of the Salt Lake and Pacific coast, Mr. Balch, went to San Francisco yesterday.

The specials had been abandoned, but the road is now being made a greater magnet to the people of the branks than Bryan, and this afternoon the passengers of a "system" to 12,000 people.

Great Auction Sale Town Lots.

Remember the great auction sale of town lots at San Francisco, concrete adjoining the city, Ocean Park and Venice, Saturday, July 10, 1908.

There will be a sale of 100 lots of first transportation tickets and further parcels of land, including the city of San Francisco, auctioneers, 20 South Spring street.

to the same date the money received by the Illinois River Company through the agency of the Chicago, West Pullman and Southern Railroad amounted to $50,000. It is demanded that nine other railway companies have been making payments of $100,000 each to the Illinois River Company under the guise of an alleged division of freight rates with the Illinois Northern Company. Swift asserts that the Illinois River Company owes the International Company since 1902 an amount more than $1,000,000. Swift demands that the directors of the Illinois River Company of the International Harvester Company, declare that the Illinois River Company is an International Harvester Company, and that the management was made between the Illinois River Company and the International Harvester Company. The directors of the Illinois River Company are Charles Deering, George W. Perkins and Charles C. McCormick. The stock of the International Harvester Company should be put in charge of the International Harvester Company for voting purposes until 1912. Swift demands that the voting agreement be terminated by the court. The bill also demands that the business of the International Harvester Company be put in charge of the International Harvester Company.

E. W. Gillette, general freight and passenger agent of the Salt Lake, will leave for New York tomorrow where he has been in conference with Senator Clark and other high officials of the road, the most vital subject for consideration having been the question of the purchase of the New Haven from the Santa Fé.

As far as is known by the officials of the road here, nothing was accomplished in the meeting at New York. Harriman and whatever negotiations may have been carried on with the Southern Pacific, the Santa Fé has not yet been definitely disposed with a final proposition, according to the local management of that road.

It is believed that whatever concessions the Southern Pacific might make on the Salt Lake here, the Santa Fé would in turn demand of it in San Francisco, and the situation, there-

Asst. Atty.-Gen. Purdy, who has charge of the prosecution of the railroad cases in this matter, left here tonight for Kansas City.

Railroad Personals.

H. A. Jones, freight traffic manager of the Atlantic division of the Southern Pacific, with headquarters at Houston, Tex., is spending a few days in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Cauvin, father and mother of R. S. Cauvin, of the advertising department of the Salt Lake, are in this city with their son.

C. O. Whittemore, assistant secretary of the Salt Lake road, is spending the summer with his family at Ocean Park.

Don Porter, owner of the Kenyon Hotel, Salt Lake, is a visitor to the city.

G. A. Wasman, of East Liverpool, representing the Pennypackers, is with his family in a recent arrival.

to give the "glad hand" to Tom Lewis, president of the Chauteau Chauteaux, a local fraternal lodge. The railroad intimates that the Chauteaux is a railroad and other officers of the lodge, suggesting that it would be in the best form for him to endorse a bill for the railroad in attacking the Chauteaux and financial systems of the country.

The Chauteaux management contends that the little advertisement campaign is done by the railroads, and no effort has been made to draw travel away from the railroads. The Chauteaux is trying to keep people from hearing him, Lawson intimates. The Chauteaux had been abandoned by Lawson, who had been a big market to the people of 25 years ago than to Bryann, and this afternoon the Chauteaux is working of the system" to 12,000 people.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Edendale Will Jolify.

The Edendale Improvement Association will hold a public entertainment at the Edendale Hall on the night of July 27, between 8 and 10 p.m. A musical and literary program will be given.

Leaking Gasoline.

Leaking gasoline from a stove in the residence of E. A. Carlson, No. 1468 Helen street, started a fire last night that burned fiercely and nearly destroyed the cottage. The loss was about $700—fully covered by insurance.

Death of Mgr. Nugent.

Word has been received in Los Angeles of the death of Mgr. James Nugent, the venerable philanthropist of London, England, who visited this city two years ago and who made several addresses here. He was a guest of the Vincentian Fathers in this city.

Branch Postoffice Removal.

The University postoffice will soon be moved into the new building being erected on the corner of West Thirty-eighth and Monte Vista streets. The building is being constructed at government expense and will be given over entirely to the work of the postal officials. The present location at the corner of Thirty-seventh and Wesley avenue has been found to be entirely inadequate, and larger quarters are necessary. Mrs. M. E. Kyle will continue to act as postmistress.

Women Turn the Earth.

Ground was broken for the Highland Park Christian Church yesterday afternoon, at the corner of Avenue Fifty-eight and Monte Vista street. The ceremony was in the nature of a protest against the fact that the women of the congregation were the hand of the shovel in turning up the first earth for the building of the foundation. Rev. Elliott Ward, formerly of the Christian Church at Eight street and Central avenue, is pastor of the new congregation.

Widening of Vermont Avenue.

Residents of Vermont avenue South of Pico street are concerned over the decision of the city to widen the thoroughfare north of Pico street to uniform width. The change, if carried out along the lines of the grade of the remaining part of the avenue, will cause the removal of several large buildings projecting into the street. Large brick flats have recently been erected on the northwest corner of Vermont and Pico streets, and these will have to be moved back. There is talk of a protest being registered against the continuation of the work.

BREVITIES.

The volume of "Liners" in the Sunday Times has become so great that it is found necessary to ask patrons to get their Sunday advertisements in earlier, especially Sunday real estate advertisements, which in order to be printed must be in the office not later than 10 o'clock Saturday night. The printing of all real estate matter, including advertisements, is a part of itself on Sundays involves somewhat slower press work, making it essential, in order to get the paper out, to stop receiving real estate ads at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Dealers will confer a favor on The Times office if they will forward their ads by mail, when possible; or at least a part of it, and the balance early on Saturday night. "Want" ads will still be received by phone and over the counter until 11 o'clock Saturday night.

HEART DISEASE ENDS HIS LIFE.

FREDERICK HARKNESS IS SUMMONED BY DEATH.

Was Prominent in Democratic State Politics, a Factor in the Oil Development of the State and Helped to Establish the Los Angeles System of Street Railways.

Frederick Harkness, a widely-known citizen, who was prominent in local street railway circles twenty years ago, and who, as a Democrat, took an active part in politics at different times in the past, died of heart failure at 5 o'clock last evening at his home, No. 1204 West Thirty-seventh street. Funeral services will be held at the family residence at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mr. Harkness had been ailing for some time, but was not seriously affected until Saturday night, when physicians were summoned hastily, to remain with him until the end.

RAILWAY SALE CONSUMMATED.

Million and a Half for the Redondo Road.

Huntington Personally Buys the Property.

Real Estate Excitement Still on at the Beach.

The official announcement was made yesterday that through the consummation of a deal just terminated, H. E. Huntington has purchased entire all of the holdings and interests of the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway Company.

being required in all transactions. "Business men of Los Angeles have been the principal buyers," says Mr. Garney.

PIER CARRIED AWAY.

Part of Huntington Beach Wharf is Washed Off—Foolhardy Swimmer Almost Loses Life.

Old ocean has been in something of a rage for several days and the currents running inshore have been increasing in violence since July 4. Yesterday at Huntington Beach a portion of the 1200-foot pier was torn away by the tide and washed out to sea, as though it had been constructed of bamboo. The portion torn away was an extension built two years ago and it will be replaced at once by the Beach Company.

On Monday evening, two fool-hardy fellows named Mose Miller and George Bokrow, wishing to show their fearlessness of the sea, jumped off the end of the wharf, when the tide was washing its floor. They refused to listen to the warning of others on the wharf but soon found themselves at the mercy of the tide and yelled for help. A rope was thrown them and Bokrow

SORRY BRIDE PROSTRATED.

Wedding Trouseau Unopened at Express Office.

Furniture for Her "Nest" Held for Unpaid Bill.

Groom's Gift is a Fraud and Hubby in Jail.

A bride of four days—Mrs. C. E. de Sawtelle—lies prostrated in her apartments on California street, after having enjoyed only a few hours of her husband's company before the minions of the law separated them. A stunning $800 wedding trousseau, step into worse trouble, was more than the poor woman could stand. Her situation wins deep sympathy from those who know her, as they say she is an estimable woman. She is about 35 years of age and has a beautiful daughter about 8 years old.

It now turns out that on the plane, which was to have been Mrs. Sawtelle's wedding gift, never a cent had been paid; that the furniture, which was to grace the five-room cottage, awaits its first payment; that the suite of rooms in the Copp building had been used for several months without payment of rent.

That a man versed in commercial and banking affairs should have executed such a clumsy piece of work as the false check, which was bound to be detected as soon as it passed through the clearing house, seems remarkable.

It is said that Sawtelle gave his note to the Central Bank for the $33 drawn on the account, and this note has since been paid. It is likely that his attorney will attempt to clear him of the check troubles on legal technicalities, with the claim that as the bank has been reimbursed for the cash drawn there is no actual loss and therefore no liability. It has been reported to the police.

TRY TO TEAR CHILD IN TWO.

Fighting Parents Tug to Divide Her Body.

Poor Little Levina Cameron in Fearful Strain.

Mother's Fists and Nail Drive Father Off.

Like a little human wishbone, was four-year-old Levina Cameron, was almost torn in twain yesterday morning by her enraged parents contending for her possession.

Jerome Cameron's desire was to take Levina home to live with his mother, Mrs. L. S. Adams, No. 133 South Hill street. Mrs. Cameron was equally determined to carry her little daughter to her own place of abode at Seventh and Spring streets.

As for poor little Levina, the poor child was frightened half out of her wits. The condition of an orphan may be sad, but at that moment the child was blessed with too much of father and mother.

Because Jerome Cameron and Mary Cameron, after six years of mutually-unhappy married life, the latest chapter of which was a suit for divorce, Real estate speculators bustling to catch an early Redondo car.

The property comes into the hands of Mr. Huntington through his purchase of every share of the capital stock of $1,000,000 and the assumption of the bonded indebtedness of $500,000. It is also announced that the purchase is made by Mr. Huntington personally, and that none of his other electric-railway interests enter into the transaction in any manner.

The present management will be retained. L. C. Garney remaining with the company as president and general manager. The offices also will be continued in their present quarters, on West Second street, and at Redondo.

The parties making the transfer to Mr. Huntington were R. R. Thompson of San Francisco, who turned over $500,000 of the capital stock, and the Alhambra Company, which held the other $500,000 of the stock of the railway company.

The Alhambra, both of Portland and Los Angeles, have until recently been extensively interested in the street railways of Portland, but several days ago they sold out their holdings in the tram system of the northern city, then followed by selling out their Redondo holdings, so that their dealings in street-railway properties in the last month have been swift and heavy.

Immediately after the assumption of control of the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway by Mr. Huntington, the plans for extensive improvements in service and in the physical condition of the road will be made effective.

Although not officially admitted, it is known that one of the first moves in the way of general improvement will be the broadening of the gauge, for the purpose not alone of attaining higher speeds in order to reduce the time between the two terminals, but also to carry out the marked tendency of the time to bring all high-speed electric railways into the standard gauge and the whole system of both divisions will be double-tracked at the same time.

The announcement of the purchase of the road by Mr. Huntington was made yesterday at Redondo, and the news was received with general satisfaction, and no doubt in its effect upon the real estate business of the day justified the assertion that Redondo was fully alive to the significance of the event.

The announcement by The Times several days ago of the proposed building of a new steel pier, was corroborated yesterday through an authoritative statement that the scheme of improvements contemplated at Redondo would be of a nature calculated to make it one of the most important shipping points on the Pacific Coast.

Sales there today aggregate over $500,000. Prices still continue to advance, and to give some idea of the condition of the realty market a mention of the following sales of yesterday would illustrate how property is selling.

Sale of 37½ feet on Pacific avenue with a one-story brick building, sold for $40,000.

Sale of 50 feet adjoining, with a small brick, $30,000; adjoining that, sale of 25 feet with cheap wooden building improvements, $10,000; later in the day the lot next door without improvements, went for $15,000.

For the Murphy building, a two-story frame with a 10-foot frontage, $50,000 was offered and refused.

A residence property on Bonita and Pacific avenues, with a 40-foot frontage, on the latter street and 150 feet on the former, with a two-story modern dwelling, was sold for $20,000.

Fifty feet running through from Commercial to Bonita avenue, with three small dwellings, brought $12,000.

Property on Bonita avenue, between Diamond and Emerald streets, with a 50-foot frontage, two-story frame flat, $10,000.

In the southern part of the town, several blocks back from the bluff, 40-foot lots are selling at about $2500, and increasing in prices as they near the beach.

Lots in the northern end of town are selling at about $1000 and increase in price as they near Carman street.

Mr. Garney says that the sales for the past two days aggregate $1,000,000, and that the trading has been of a substantial character, one-third cash was secured, but Miller was carried a considerable distance down the coast and but for a freak of the high tide he would have been lost for it was impossible to launch a boat to save him. When he was completely exhausted he was picked up by a huge breaker and shot high and dry on the sand, where he lay helpless for a short time.

Four young men sat in a boat pulled up on the sand at the same beach, when a big roller came along and dumped them all out into the water, the youngest of the four, Huntington Beach, on a bluff, was not reached by the tide, but the breakers licked the foot of the bluff and threatened the bath-house. The tide is now receding.

At Sunset Beach the waves rolled into the doors of some of the cottages and it is reported from Newport that cottages were threatened there. At Long Beach, the big pier was hard hammered.

GRAPE CROP LIGHT.

Wine Men are Trying to Buy It All at Low Prices—Double Cross, Says a Grower.

A vineyardist from the country said yesterday to a Times reporter: "The grape-growers are up against a very light and the wine makers are trying to contract for the grapes at about $7 to $8 per ton. The price should not be less than $15 to $20."

On the other hand the small wine makers say the big San Francisco wine trust is trying to force them all out of business or into the combine. The trust is selling sweet wines here in Los Angeles for 25 cents per gallon, which ought to bring not less than 50 cents. These prices are of course for wines only partly cured and in a wholesale way. Perfectly cured sweet wines should bring $1.00 per gallon up to retail.

The grower says: "Hold onto your grapes and get a good price for them. Then the wine makers will not be able to sell at 25 cents per gallon. The consumer will get his wine at about the same price." The middleman is still to be heard from.

SWIPED MELON.

Lucious Attraction in a Market Affords Trouble for Two Contractors Too Much Attracted.

W. J. Thomas and Phil Curry, contractors, longingly for a watermelon and though they had plenty of money in their pockets, they thought it would be a fine joke to swipe a lucious one from a South Main-street market when nobody was watching.

Curry acted as lookout while Thomas did the swiping act, and the game went well until they suddenly realized that Patrolman Daniels had been looking on all of the time. Thomas was locked up, charged with petty larceny, and Curry found lodging in the drunk cell. Curry said he has seventy men working for him in the cement contracting business, and he offered bail in any amount, but it was refused.

FETE FRANCAISE.

A fencing tournament that will be open to all, comers was added last night to the programme for the celebration of the Fall of the Bastille, to be held Friday afternoon and evening at Chutes Park under the auspices of the French residents of Los Angeles. Entries of contestants are being made at the headquarters of the society, No. 211 Aliso street. Other events will be a "contest of taste," games, balloon ascension, fireworks, a French family supper, grand ball, and address at Chutes Theater by Mayor McAleer and others.

BRIDGE IMPROVEMENTS.

The wagon bridge across the Arroyo de Las Posas has been closed a part of the past week while new flooring was laid and other improvements made.

ordered for the bride, from one of the great dr. goods houses of Chicago, lies unopened in an express office in this city, and she has never seen its contents.

Elegant furniture selected by the bridegroom at one of the large stores of Los Angeles, for fitting up in splendid style a five-room cottage, still stands in the store awaiting a settlement by the purchaser.

A $500 piano, gift of the bridegroom to the bride, unfortunately has a $500 claim clinging to it from a local house.

A bill of two months' office rent for a suite of rooms in the Copp Building remains unsettled.

A charge of uttering a fictitious check hangs over the head of the bridegroom, and he now languishes in the City Jail; and altogether there's the very worst climax imaginable in the affairs of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. de Sawtelle.

Sawtelle, who is said to be a member of a prominent family in St. Louis, has been located in Los Angeles for some time as an expert accountant, with offices in the Copp Building. He has had the reputation of being a capable man in this line and apparently has had a good business.

More than a year ago Mrs. J. C. Crouch, accompanied by her pretty little daughter, came to Los Angeles from Seattle. Her husband was a Seattle attorney, but there had been a separation. Mrs. Crouch placed her case in the hands of "Habeas Corpus" Ladd, and secured a divorce from Crouch, on the grounds of failure to provide. She also secured the custody of her child.

Then Mrs. Crouch looked around for employment, and decided to take up book-keeping. She became a pupil in the offices of Accountant de Sawtelle, and was evidently his favorite. Sawtelle had sympathy for the woman who had lost her husband, and he confided to her the fact that he, too, had experienced with the divorce court, and left a woman behind. He made love to the book-keeping student, and gave her to understand that should she become his bride she would have her every want supplied.

As an earnest of this pledge, it is said Sawtelle showed Mrs. Crouch a $500 piano, which he said he would give her as a wedding present. But this was not all. He ordered from Chicago an elegant trousseau for the bride-to-be. This was sent on approval, and as it required a cash deposit before the express company would surrender it for inspection, the bride-to-be sealed in its original package, hidden from the eyes for which it was intended.

The wedding of Mrs. Crouch proceeded favorably, and last Saturday morning de Sawtelle and the widow slipped out of the city and went down to Santa Ana, where they both were married, and were married. They started cityward early in the afternoon, and arrived here about 3 o'clock.

This was the end of the honeymoon; for Mrs. de Sawtelle was sent to her rooms by her new husband, with the information that he would meet her at 3 o'clock and take her to dinner. Before that hour arrived the bride received a telephone message stating that the detectives had arrested him and he was in jail.

Sawtelle had forged a check purporting to have been made payable to himself from one M. F. Hopkins. As Mrs. Harris says: "There ain't no such a person."

He then deposited the check in the Central Bank and drew on the account for $5. This was the case of which he was arrested, and which will be threshed out before Justice Chambers at 2 o'clock tomorrow.

Mrs. Crouch hurried to the attorney who had helped her to secure a divorce from her first husband and arranged Ladd to get No. 2 out of his difficulty for $5. This was the case of which he was arrested, and which will be threshed out before Justice Chambers at 2 o'clock tomorrow.

Mrs. Sawtelle wanted to sell her jewelry and to aid in defending her husband; but she was dissuaded by those who had been investigating the man's affairs.

The shock of these revelations was such that Mrs. Sawtelle was prostrated. Having freed herself from one galling matrimonial alliance, only to though they have no evidence of the fact, that the prisoner has two more wives the East and is open to the charge of bigamy.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

National Meeting at Portland Promises to be One of Great Interest.

The Thirtieth National Irrigation Congress is called to meet in Portland, Or., Aug. 21 to 24. All who are interested in developing the great natural resources of the country, extending the habitable area, and increasing the products of the land, insuring greater stability and more prosperous conditions, making occupations upon the land more attractive, the extension of the internal trade and commerce, and the dissemination of a wider knowledge of the great economic movement which has for its ultimate object the upbuilding of an empire within the borders of a great nation, are invited to attend the congress.

Fifteen delegates are appointed by the Governor of each State and Territory.

Five by the Mayor of each city of more than 25,000 population.

Five by the chairman of the governing board of each county.

Two, each duly accredited by the Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade, Commercial Club or other commercial body.

Two, each duly accredited by any regularly organized irrigation, agricultural or historical society.

Two, each duly accredited by any agricultural college or university having a chair of hydraulic engineering, forestry or other subject related to the general purpose of the congress.

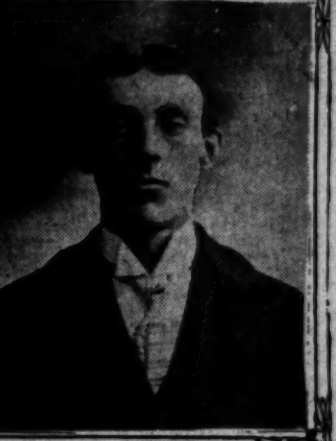

It is confidently predicted that the coming session of the congress will be more highly instructive and entertaining than any congress which has preceded it.

WEATHER MAN GOES FISHING

Mr. Franklin may be all right as a weather observer, but when it comes to weather making he "doesn't cut much ice." He would doubtless have liked to have cut some ice last week, when he went up to Big Rock Creek in Antelope Valley, on a trout fishing expedition. He found that lying in a hammock offers more attractions than trout fishing, when the thermometer stands at 115 deg. in the shade, as it did last Sunday. On that same day he averts that the temperature in the shade at Palmdale, the nearest railroad station on the Southern Pacific, went as high as 127 deg.

which has been just denied, decided to divide their common property and live apart, the child was yesterday subjected to the torture of what was almost an attempted bodily dismemberment. That one portion of Levina is not now with the mother and the other retained as a trophy of victory by the father, is due not to lack of force and exertion on the part of either, but to the ability of the child to hold together under the strain.

During the settlement of the differences of her parents, Levina has been living with Mrs. J. S. Williams out at Garvanza. Yesterday the father went out to get the child, and brought her into the city to live with her grandmother.

Mrs. Cameron works as a pastry cook at the Natick, and when one of the dining-room girls told her that Cameron had just left a car at Second street with the little girl, she hastily put on her hat and ran out to overtake them.

The encounter took place on Hill street near Second. The wife overtook the father and daughter, and grasping Levina by the arm, settled back for a long, strong pull. With a firm grasp on the other arm, Cameron resisted the efforts of his wife. Levina was fairly suspended between the two, as they fought and tugged for possession of the little girl.

A number of spectators gathered quickly about the warring twain, but none dared interfere.

Finally the mother released her hold on the little one, and with clenched fists and keen nails attacked Cameron, beating him lustily, and doing effective work with her finger nails at the same time.

Cameron took advantage of the sudden change of tactics to gather up the child in his arms and sprint up the hill to his mother's, where he fled into the house and slammed the door in the face of the enraged, and discomfited wife.

The father declares he will keep the child, and the mother is as emphatic in expressing her determination of recovering the little one through process of law.

In the meantime Levina remains in charge of her grandmother.

PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council yesterday passed the Spring-street lighting ordinance over the Mayor's veto.

Donations have been solicited by the Police Commission; the prize, a saloon license, will be awarded next Tuesday morning.

The Municipal Ownership Committee yesterday recommended to the Council the employment of an expert to secure data showing the probable cost of the construction and operation of a municipal lighting plant.

Mrs. Ida Gross, who posed as the wife of J. H. Heart, who was sent to the State's prison for twenty years for killing T. K. Kern, and who is alleged to have perjured herself while on the witness stand last October, was arrested yesterday.

E. A. Gerety had P. R. Doyle arrested yesterday for bumping him out of the car on a horse race track.

In the Police Court yesterday W. A. Hall was held to answer for attempting to shoot M. J. Perrell in a fight at Agricultural Park.

Louis B. Metcalf, who spent $150 of the money he collected for a life insurance company, was arraigned for embezzlement.

MUST HAVE NEW STREET LIGHTS.

SPRING STREET ORDINANCE IS REAFFIRMED.

The Mayor's Veto and Municipal League's Protest Not Sufficient to Defeat Plans for Those Electricians. Improvement Association Indorses Council's Action—Signal System.

Undeterred by the opposition of the Mayor and the Municipal League, the Council yesterday morning reaffirmed the ordinance establishing an assessment district for defraying the cost of erecting a system of electric street lights.

After Clerk Wilde had read the Mayor's veto message and the Council had gone through with the formality of reconsidering the adoption of the ordinance, Councilman Smith moved that the ordinance be reaffirmed.

This came as a surprise to the opposition for Smith voted against the original adoption of the ordinance. Surprised members came from the Spring Street Improvement Association, which sent its secretary to ask that the ordinance be adopted. Originally Councilman Smith and the Improvement Association favored an ordinance providing for the cost of both the electricians and the conduit and attachments connecting up the lights.

Secretary Willard of the Municipal League asked the Council to sustain the Mayor's veto. He said that the league is in favor of an ordinance binding the property owners to pay for both the electricians and the conduits. If the property owners do not pay for the conduits the city will have to do so, was the main argument of the league representative in the municipal league. But when vote was taken Hammond was the only legislator to oppose the passage of the ordinance.

WILL NOT INTERFERE.

COUNCIL ON THE FENCE.

Mayor McAllister's request to the Council for a committee to assist him in investigating conditions in the library yesterday fell upon an unresponsive Council. The Councilmen consider that the library fight is none of their making, and they decline to mix in.

When the Mayor's special message was read, Councilman Smith promptly moved that the clerk instruct the Chief Executive that the Council does not desire to take part in something that is outside its jurisdiction.

"If the Council were to conclude after investigation, that Miss Jones should be restored to her place, we would have no authority to force the Library Board to take such action," said Mr. Smith, "again, if we were to conclude that it would be for the good of the service to remove some of the directors, we could take no action until the Mayor first acted. It appears to me that the Mayor is trying to shift the responsibility when the library question comes squarely up to the Council on a proposition on which we have jurisdiction. He shall not be found shirking his duty."

"Aye, aye," came the response from half a dozen legislators. When vote was taken every Councilman supported Mr. Smith's motion of non-interference.

CALL IT MISNOMER.

WHIST CLUB BOISTEROUS.

The Overland Whist Club at No. 703 East Third street, has so far belied its name that the Police Commission has ordered it closed on account of the boisterous, convivial actions of its members.

Chief of Police Hammel took a verbal shot at the club yesterday in his report to the Police Board on the application of J. R. Allen for a billiard hall permit in the building where the whist club has its headquarters. He told the commissioners that the club is one of the worst in the city.

Mr. Allen, the applicant for the billiard hall license, is the owner of the building. He said the club has been a good tenant, prompt in payment of rent, but that it holds no lease on the rooms it occupies. He would rather have the billiard hall license than the club.

IS IT PATENTED?

RED-LIGHT SIGNAL SYSTEM.

The Police Commission does not take very kindly to the urgent requests from the Municipal League that the city shall enter into a contract with Special Officer Foster for installing the so-called Foster police-signal system in the police department.

In one petition the league recommends municipal ownership for street lights and in the other it makes an argument against municipal ownership in the matter of police signal lights and boxes. At least that is the way some of the commissioners interpret the league's actions.

The secretary of the league yesterday morning presented at the regular meeting of the commission the following communication from the Executive Committee of the Municipal League:

On February 13 a committee from the Municipal League called upon your honorable body to urge that some action be taken in the matter of a suitable police alarm for the residence sections, advising that the Foster alarm, which experience has shown to be most effective and which has been endorsed by the citizens of this city and by the league, be adopted.

Mrs. Ida Gross, alias Mrs. J. W. Heart, arrested for perjury.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

MRS. IDA GROSS RUN TO EARTH.

ARRESTED FOR PERJURY COMMITTED IN MURDER TRIAL.

Tried to Exonerate J. W. Heart, Charged With Murder of Thomas Kern, by Putting an Eye-Witness and Stringing Together a Tissue of Lies.

After playing hide and seek with the sheriff's deputies for nearly one month Mrs. J. W. Heart, or more properly Mrs. Ida Gross, was yesterday arrested by Deputy Sheriff Franklin on the charge of perjury.

The offense charged was committed during the trial of J. W. Heart for having murdered Thomas Kern over a difference regarding 50 cents. The evidence was strong against the defendant, but the wife professed to know what her husband had done, and she swore to it.

She narrated with circumstantial detail how she upstairs into the flat that Kern and his family were vacating, stood by while the two men struggled and witnessed the coup-de-grace given to Kern by Heart in self-defense. Among much else she said: "Kern grabbed me by the arm and tried to kill me with a knife."

"You son of a bitch, I'll kill you" and then he grabbed him by the throat and had the knife in his right hand, and he tried to stab me with it. I was a little bit of a child, and then he threw him into the bedroom. Then he went on top of him with his knees and punched him in the head. I was scared, I was scared, I was scared."

Then, having told of the alleged facts showing justification, she described Heart shooting while lying on the floor. All the statements made by Mrs. Heart were carefully considered in order that they might meet the requirements of the circumstantial evidence, and that could not be contradicted.

But Mrs. Heart was not shrewd enough to cover over the dastardly deed. Her statements were so full of contradictions that the jury was left in doubt as to whether she was telling the truth or not.

Adams supposed this man was going to warn Doyle of his coming, and he gave chase, arriving in the rear of the barn about the time that the man reached that place. There before the eyes of the amazed officer was a full-fledged, crap game in full operation, and among the players were men well known all over the city.

"You are all under arrest," shouted the officer, but the players continued to throw away the dice and grab the money until the evidence was destroyed. Then Doyle was pointed out to Adams, and he arrested him. It was impossible for the one officer to make a case against the gamblers, and they were, therefore, released, but Doyle was jailed.

TICKET'S WRONG END.

SUIT AGAINST TROLLEY LINE.

The suit of W. F. Hayes against the Pacific Electric Railway Company went to trial yesterday in Judge Monahan's court before a jury. The action was instituted in the Justice Court where Hayes obtained a judgment for $200 for ejectment from one of the company's cars.

Mr. Hayes was coming to Los Angeles on a short time vacation and purchased a return ticket. After transacting his business in the city he took a car to return to Pasadena and tendered his return ticket to the conductor. That official told him that the ticket handed him was good from Pasadena to Los Angeles, and not out of this city.

Hayes told only that the conductor who had issued the ticket must have made a mistake, and retained the wrong end of the ticket, but he was informed that he must pay or alight from the car.

In court Hayes represented that he was forcibly ejected from the car, but there was some weighty testimony on the other side showing that though the conductor refused to let him get out of a fare from Mr. Hayes or that he should alight, both men walked down the car together on apparently amicable terms.

LIBRARY SITE.

FIGHTING FOR CENTRAL PARK.

The injunction suit of J. H. Spires against the city of Los Angeles, the Mayor and City Council, and the Boards of Park and Library Commissioners, designed to prevent the establishment of the public library in Central Park, came up before Judge Trask yesterday.

Mr. Spires and Isidore Dockweiler, one of the library directors, gave testimony in the case, and all other testimony was stipulated to by the attorneys on either side. Mr. H. T. Lee, Charles Welborn and Eugene Overton represented the plaintiff, and City Attorney Matthews and H. J. Goudge appeared for the city.

Mr. Dockweiler gave his recollection of the Central Park in the early days when he was a boy attending St. Vincent's College, at that time situated on Hill street, between Sixth and Seventh streets. Then it had a picket fence around it, and was set out as a park, and was used as a public park.

Among other of the stipulated testimony was that of J. M. Griffin, sole proprietor of the expenditure of money subscribed to plant out the park in very early days. He told of the picket fence, and planting some of the large forest trees.

Counsel for the plaintiffs rely upon the dedication of the site as a park, and the article in the charter of 1881 setting out that all parks should be held as such inalienable to the people. The city, on the other hand, inclines to the view that the park was dedicated to the public use, and that the city has the right to change the use of the park at any time.

Briefs are to be filed in the case, and it will then stand submitted.

HAYS LOSES.

SUIT AGAINST RAILROAD.

The jury in the case of W. F. Hayes against the Pacific Electric Railway Company met night yesterday to render a verdict for the defendant, the railway company, after being out three minutes.

The suit was over an ejectment caused by difficulty as to a ticket on the Pasadena branch of the Pacific Electric, and came up to Department Six of the Superior Court. It was on trial nearly all of yesterday.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

HAUSER'S SENTENCE. J. H. Hauser was yesterday sentenced by Judge Frank to five years at Pelam, for an assault with a deadly weapon upon young Herman Hauser. The court told the defendant he had been ably defended by Attorney Mahoney, but he thought the jury was justified in its verdict.

THE SMITH DIVORCE. Mrs. Rye Pisk Smith was yesterday granted a divorce from Nathaniel B. Smith by Judge Bordwell, on the ground of desertion. The parties were married in Indian Territory, and soon afterward the wife went to stay with a sick cousin. Her husband sent her trunk along after her, and that was practically the last she saw of him. It was shown, however, that he had lived loosely with other women in Kansas City.

DO HARUM EXCELLED.

DOLLY CONFESSED FRAUD.

Edward A. Gerety has been beaten clean out of his shoes at a horse trade by F. R. Doyle, and yesterday he had him arrested on the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. Doyle was arraigned and is now in jail in default of $1500 bail.

Gerety saw an "ad" in one of the newspapers that the lot of horses to be sold cheap. He went to Doyle's place at No. 812 South Broadway, and saw the horses, and was told that they were good workers and going dirt cheap at $170.

After some dickering Gerety said he would buy, and paid down $10 to bind the bargain. The day following he paid over to Doyle another $80. Then Doyle turned to Gerety, and said:

"Let me tell you something: you've been clean buncoed out of your money. Those horses aren't worth a bad dollar. Why, bless you, this is my business; taking in greenies just like you."

Gerety wasn't convinced, and thought Doyle was trying to buy the animals back at a rebate. He wanted proof that the horses were no good. He was soon satisfied through a few maneuvers with both animals, and they then stood revealed—one as windbroke and the other suffering from some affection of the spinal column. The latter would go a little way, and then shrink in pain and fall down. Gerety decided to return the money. Doyle's face straightened out as he gave him a cold and glassy stare, and asked him if he thought he was in the business after him. Then Gerety was released, and a warrant for Doyle's arrest was issued.

In serving that warrant, Deputy Constable Jack Adams had an experience which surprised him, and which disclosed the existence of a gambling ring in the city. The directors are James L. Cluxton, Josie L. Cluxton and John Meagher, Jr., all of Ocean Park.

THE WHALEN DIVORCE. Charles Whalen was granted a divorce from Mrs. A. W. Whalen by Judge Trask yesterday, on the ground of desertion.

HALL IS HELD FOR ATTEMPT TO SHOOT PERCELL.

All About a Board Bill That Perrell Had Failed to Pay—Louis Metcalf, Who Spent His Employers' Money Lavishly, Arraigned for Embezzlement.

The examination of W. A. Hall before Justice Rose on a charge of assault to murder M. J. Perrell, was held yesterday and resulted in his being held for trial in the Superior Court.

This case is the outcome of a quarrel between the two men at Agricultural Park on June 14. Hall, who lives at Long Beach, came up to the city to collect a delinquent board bill from Perrell, and they got into a quarrel over it. Perrell alleges that Hall pulled a gun on him and he defended himself with a bucket which he held in his hand filled with water, striking Hall over the head with it. Hall claims that Perrell came at him with the bucket and he shot in self-defense.

The results of the fracas were a smashed derby hat that belonged to Hall, and three shots fired which failed to kill Perrell. The first one was fired simultaneously with the smashing of the bucket, and the second and third other two while he lay on his back. Hall was released on $3000 bail pending trial.

Police Court Briefs.

Gin Sue and Louis Yip, the two Chinamen charged with running a lottery game, and who attempted to burn the evidence on Monday night, were arraigned and placed under bond for trial on August 1.

Nellie Mundell, a young girl charged with the murder of her mother, was arraigned yesterday held in $500 bail for trial in the Superior Court.

Josephine Muhlenberg yesterday swore to a warrant charging Harry Guinness with battery, as the result of a neighborhood row. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried on Friday, having put up $20 bail for his appearance before Justice Rose.

Louis Chow was arrested for driving a horse with raw shoulders, and will be tried before a jury on July 15. The collar pads presented in court

In the matter of those islands, Japan is probably merely doing a little cleaning up before the game closes.

Taft, Root and Bonaparte—with three of a kind like that, President Roosevelt is in shape to stand pat.

Any city in Russia that is not now under martial law, must be put down as a slow town controlled by Prohibitionists.

Gen. Linnvitch's optimism may not be justified, but it is more or less warranted by the fact that he hasn't been backed yet.

There is a suspicion that Walter Scott's next move will be to visit Washington and offer to pay off the national debt.

The most free-spoken man in Russia appears to be Prince Troubetzkoy. Maybe he's the great figure that fate is holding in reserve.

If what Lord Roberts says is true—and "Bobs" ought to know—when Great Britain tied Japan up in an alliance she handed the brown man a gold brick.

Instead of letting their throne go begging the Norwegians should take the thing out and chop it up, setting fire to the splinters to make a beacon light for liberty.

"Scotty" is now in the enemy's country, where cow-punchers and prospectors are the prey of bunco-steerers and confidence men. Let me Death Valley mystic keep his hand on his gun.

It is quite as much of a mystery why Death Valley Scott should want to hurry away from a town like Chicago as it is why he should want to hurry into a town like Chicago.

Norway may some day regret she did not turn herself into a republic when she had the chance. She'll have to do it later on, anyhow. The King business is going to play out. It's too silly.

There was once considerable talk about running the Country Deep for President of the United States. From this time on, however, no talk of that kind need ever worry any of the candidates.

"The Santa Fé trail" was never hit the clip that Scott the cow-puncher hit it in the 44 hours and 54 minutes that it took to carry that picturesque and strenuous young fellow from Los Angeles to Windyville.

This Death Valley freak of humanity, Walter Scott, spends money like a drunken sailor. The Equitable lapse over any kind of a pudding we have ever yet heard of, $25,000 a year for "raising" other men's salaries, is almost too good to believe. But it must be so, Chauncey himself admits it.

We hope Chauncey Depeew will think of something more to say regarding his career as an officer of the Equitable. What he has already said seems to lack in several essential particulars those elemental arguments which would tend to leave us still believing that Chauncey is the man we thought he was.

If, as our St. Petersburg correspondent says, the "Russian government is resting peacefully on a submerged republic," the thing to do is to get the dericks to work and pull that republic up over water. There are not so many republics that we can afford to have any of them submerged.

History repeats itself, the world keeps swinging around always in the same old circle, and this year's fashions are simply a reproduction of the fashions of some other bygone year. In short, there's nothing new under the sun. And, instead of kicking about it, we ought to be glad. It's better that way.

There's one fact we may all acknowledge now as well as at any other time, and that is, between Los Angeles and Chicago, there are some Santa Fé railroad men who, as railroaders, go, are the shake of the bag. It's a great thing to meet with that kind of men—men who know their business thoroughly and attend to it strictly.

It seems a pretty hard matter to kill the right kind of an American, either by old age or by any other process. Now, there's Grover Cleveland, for instance. Just when we had comfortably retired him as a "sage," to spend his time talking to himself, he bobs up in New York working like a beaver and the thermometer melting with the heat right in front of his face.

BUSINESS.

The Chicago wheat market closed firm, despite profit-taking. The close was firm, with September at 88. A rush to sell stocks at New York swept away strong underlying demand, and the vigorous support which has been in evidence for some time past. The consequence was a wide decline in prices.

RAILWAY FRAUD.

It will be something like a decade before the Panama Canal can be completed and the benefits of intercommunication between the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans conferred upon the commerce of the United States and of the world in general. This is a long time to wait for improved trade facilities, and had the old order of things in the control of the Panama Railroad been allowed to continue, not one step in advance would have been made until the new waterway is actually thrown open to shipping. But the railroad has happily passed into the hands of the United States government, and while it cannot do all that the canal will ultimately accomplish, under proper management it can help to bridge the period of enforced delay. That up to the present this railway route should have proved virtually of no account is a scandal the full enormity of which is only now revealed by the painstaking and elaborate report prepared by Special Commissioner Joseph L. Bristow and published in yesterday's issue of The Times.

The document discloses a state of things guessed at before by the public, but never yet laid bare in all its sordid details. In plain language the Panama Railroad up to now has been operated, not with the object of encouraging trade by way of the isthmus, but with deliberate intent to strangle it. The company sold itself to a combination of United States capitalists known as the Transcontinental Railway Pool, and was content to take easy money to the amount of $75,000 monthly, bartering for that sum the right to determine its freight rates. Needless to say those latter were fixed at prohibitive figures that closed the route to ordinary commerce.

As an example of how the iniquitous system has robbed the public, we may take Hawaiian sugar, which by the hundred thousand tons has been unloaded annually from ships at San Francisco, transported across the continent by rail to Galveston, and thence shipped by steamer to New York. Obviously the sugar thus handled costs more per pound to the consumer than if, under conditions of free traffic competition, it had taken the short railway transit from Panama to Colon. Such are the methods by which in the past the Transcontinental Railway Pool has held up and robbed the people without their knowing anything about it. But these nefarious practices are now at an end, for the Panama Railroad under United States government control will give to commerce the benefits of the isthmian route at some price like the cost price of handling freight and irrespective of all artificially buttressed interests that may thereby be affected.

Commissioner Bristow's recommendations are drastic and far-reaching. He holds that the Panama railway should not be operated merely as a construction road for the canal works, but that it should at once be double tracked, equipped with modern rolling stock, improved as to wharf accommodations and plant for handling cargo, and generally, brought into a condition of thorough up-to-date commercial efficiency. As Mr. Bristow enjoys the confidence of the President, and as the President has made it clear that only business methods shall apply to the carrying through of the Panama Canal scheme, it is tolerably certain that the commissioner's report will be put into effect. In this event the effete shipping monopoly that has worked in close association with the railway pool will also be swept into the limbo of discarded things, and long before the canal is built we shall have isthmian steamers calling at San Pedro and San Diego, also at Tacoma, Seattle and Portland, and not as heretofore giving to San Francisco the exclusive monopoly of a clandestinely restricted trade. For our Southern California canned goods, and for a variety of other products, a competitive route to the eastern markets and to Europe will be welcome, indeed, and at the same time the trail of commerce will be blazed for the coming Panama Canal days.

SHALL WE BE BUMPED?

Is our earth in danger of colliding with some wandering star flying aimlessly through space? Professor A. B. Hervey, in the Brooklyn Eagle, apologetically remarks: "It may seem cruel in me to take away what little comfort you may have derived from the dictum of the astronomer which you quoted in yesterday's Eagle, offering a margin of 50,000 years before there could be a collision between our sun and one of the stars."

The professor then admits that none of the lucid stars could reach us within the time named, but calls attention to the fact that there are probably "many thousand times more (of invisible stars) whirling through space than there are of the visible ones." While the assumption that there are innumerable dark worlds—dead suns—is generally conceded, there is no warrant for supposing that they are flying about better skelter without any semblance of order or system.

When pursuing our investigations in any branch of natural science we first encounter a confused mass of apparently unrelated facts. When these are studied, compared, correlated, we find that sequence, method, plan, purpose, gradually emerge from the incongruous materials under examination. Before Copernicus located the sun in the center of the solar system, the motions of the planets presented a hopeless tangle to the brightest intellect. A grand, orderly system existed, the rolling spheres were moving in perfect harmony, absolute law governed all their motions, but our incomplete knowledge, inadequate data, and imperfect view of observed facts, prevented us from grasping the faultless scheme as a whole.

The expanse beyond the limits of our solar system is too vast, too far away, for detailed observation, too complex in the varied features it presents, for the astronomer to reduce its complicated phenomena to apparent order and system as yet, but we cannot doubt that in that realm, as in every other realm of nature, "order is heaven's first law." If we arrive at that conclusion, then we must refuse to admit that lawless worlds, blind suns, or any other description of heavenly bodies are flying aimlessly about in distant space, or that, as Prof. Hervey claims, "we are liable to run into one of these at any moment."

There is another reason which militates against the latter view. Any dark body large enough to inflict serious injury upon the earth, or to add materially to the flaming fires of the sun, would become visible at a distance of hundreds of millions of miles, by reflected light from our sun, and its approach would be noted by astronomers for months and probably years before it could arrive in the neighborhood of the sun, and we would at least have time to say our prayers and bid our friends an affectionate farewell.

The earth has been in existence, first as an igneous globe, then as a cooling planet, and finally in the various geological stages from azoic times to the present, for some hundreds of millions of years, and has thus far escaped any such catastrophe as that hinted at by Prof. Hervey, and we may, with a sense of security, proceed as usual, attending to business, caring for our families and performing our allotted share of the world's work.

TRANS-MISSISSIPPI CONGRESS.

The sixteenth annual session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress will be held at the Auditorium, on the Lewis and Clark Exposition grounds at Portland, Or., on August 16, 17, 18 and 19. It is especially appropriate that this year's meeting of the Congress is to be held at the Portland Exposition, which project the Congress has long favored, along with other enterprises for the betterment of the vast region west of the Mississippi.

Among the important questions which will be discussed at the coming session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress will be the increasing commerce of the Far East, and the best methods to be adopted in order that the Pacific Coast may secure its share of this trade, which is destined to attain to colossal proportions in the future. This organization is composed of delegates from many commercial, industrial and maritime associations, hence its members will be directly interested in all that is calculated to advance the interests of the States and Territories west of the Mississippi River. In order to secure the advancement in the commerce of the Far East, the people of the great Trans-Mississippi region must be alert and enterprising. It is none too soon to discuss this matter seriously, nor to take preliminary action calculated to safeguard their interests.

Among the subjects proposed for discussion and recommendation are the following: (1) The improvement of rivers, harbors and waterways. (2) The union of interests between Pacific Coast ports and ports of the Gulf of Mexico. (3) The isthmian canal and its effect upon commerce. (4) The merchant marine. (5) The consular

PEOPLE OF THE COAST.

Among the candidates successfully passing the mental examinations for admission to the Military Academy at West Point is W. P. Vetter, a California boy.

Chester Wesley Washburne of Eugene, Ore., has been appointed to the Price Greenleaf scholarship in Harvard University, a prize much coveted by college men.

At the recent meeting of the National Association of State Librarians held in Portland, James L. Gillis, California State Librarian, was elected first vice-president.

Charles C. Cluser of San Bernardino, who is the oldest living member of the Order of Elks, accompanied the California delegation to the meeting of the grand lodge in Buffalo.

James Denman, a California pioneer, and well known in San Francisco and State political circles, is reported dangerously ill at a hotel in London. Mr. Denman is making a tour of the world.

Capt. Robert Cleary, a veteran of the Mexican war, who came to California in 1847, died in Red Bluff recently. The captain was prominent in militia circles in San Francisco in the early days.

Arthur H. Dysart of Phoenix has been accepted as a cadet at the Naval Academy in Annapolis. Young Dysart is a graduate of the Phoenix High School, and was for a time a carrier boy on the Republican of that city.

John F. Byrbe, an assistant in the department of engineering, and George Miller, a student at Stanford University, have prepared the model of a gasoline traction engine which is expected to revolutionize the hauling of heavy loads.

Some time today A. E. Horton, E. W. Morse and W. W. Bowers will begin the demolition of the Horton House in San Diego. Just thirty-five years ago the same men broke ground for the erection of the structure which was long San Diego's leading caravansary.

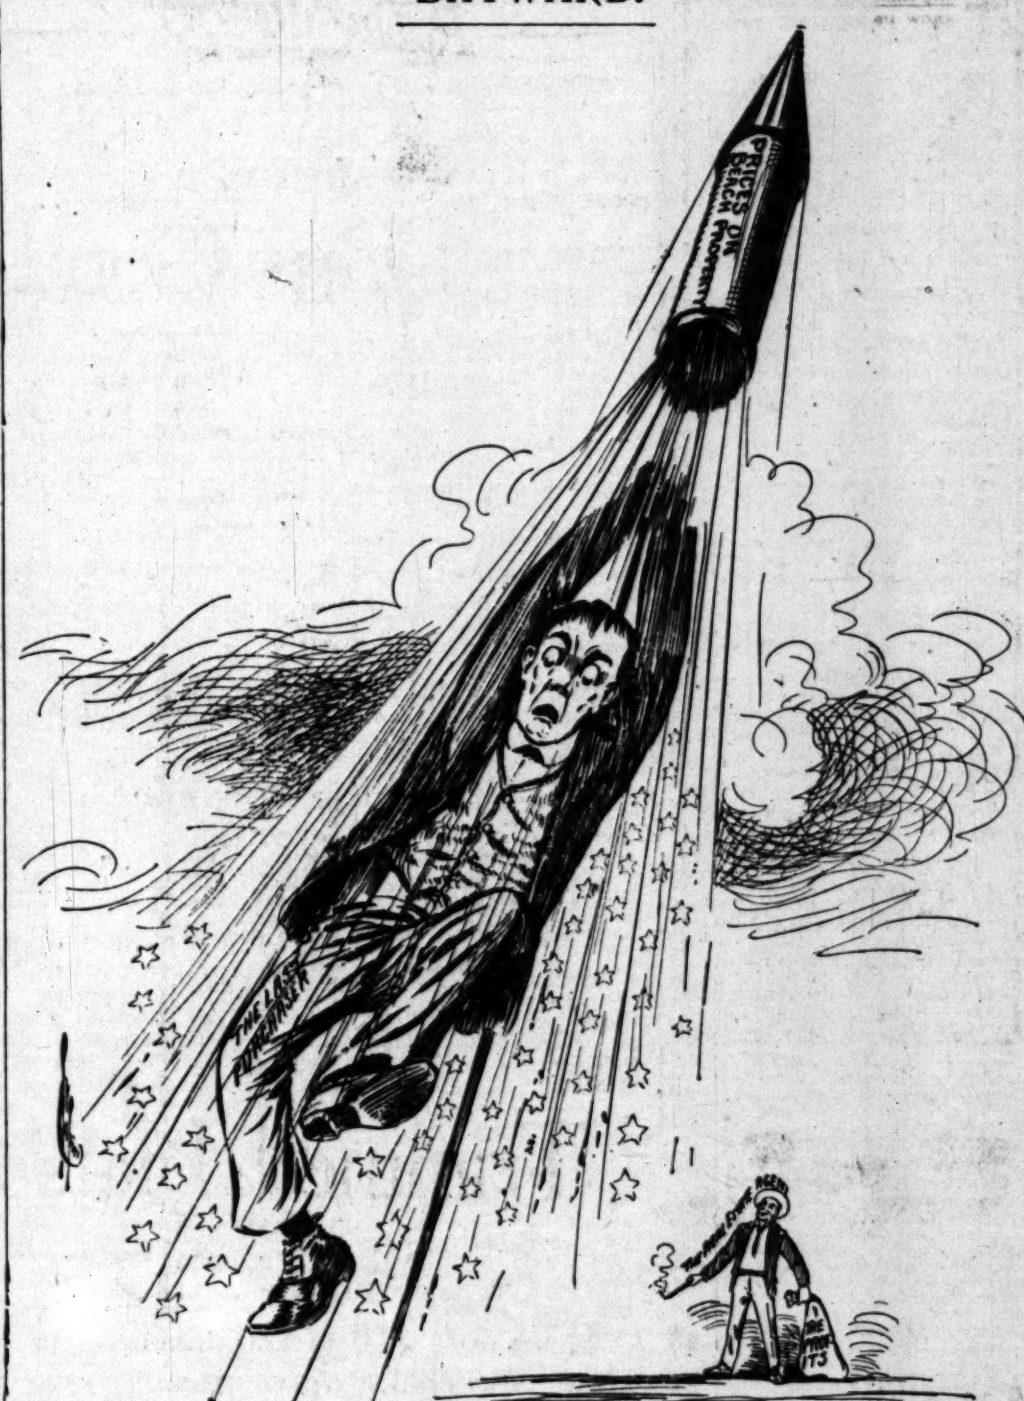

Rev. Dwight E. Potter, pastor of a Presbyterian Church in Oakland, is working as an engine wiper in the Southern Pacific railroad yards. Mr. Potter desires to familiarize himself with the everyday life of the railroad workers and with that end in view, has entered upon his present venture.

Among the guests at a Portland hotel last week was H. J. Quinton, who, a few years ago, was a hack driver in the Oregon metropolis. He went to Nome, secured an interest in the Portland bench claims and this year has taken out over $120,000. He is now en route to the San Francisco assay office with his big pouch of dust-buffery.

The sale of the Gutierrez drug store in Santa Barbara a few days since recalls the story of how the first drug business was established in that town. When the late Dr. B. Gutierrez arrived there in 1854, finding no building suitable for the purpose, he bought the lot, here placed the building, and some years previously, and moving it up State street, used it as a drug store.

Luther Burbank is now talking about getting up some cobblestone corn, but the most great consideration is the cornless toe.—[New York Mail]

SKYWARD.

Up like a rocket—down like—

UNDER A FOREIGN FLAG.

Queer Story of an American Now a Soldier of King Edward VII.

[Pittsburgh Dispatch.] Henry W. Garfield, the greatest patron of amateur sports this country ever has had, is in town. He told me one of the sweetest, prettiest stories at the Lolo Club last night I have heard in many a long day. He was coming back from Winnipeg, Man., not long ago, when he met a young man on the Canadian Pacific train. The traveler looked him over for a considerable time before he made bold to address him. Then he asked:

"You are a citizen of the United States?"

"I am," replied Garfield, as he handed the stranger his card.

"Harry," Garfield hailed from Albany—the Albany Club, to speak accurately—and he knows every body worth knowing between Puget Sound and Penobscot Bay.

"Do you know Capt. Ramsey of the Ninth United States Infantry?" was the next question.

"Certainly do," retorted Garfield. "He was appointed from my native town, and a lot of us have watched his success in the Philippines."

"You don't half appreciate that man," retorted the stranger. "He was worth his weight in gold in the Chinese campaign. He was of as much value by example to the Germans, English and Russians as he was to Gen. Chaffee."

When you see him or write to him say that you met Tra-la-Hunter, son of Robert Mercer Talafiero Hunter, Secretary of State to the Confederate government in 1861, and that he sends greetings. I will never go back to the United States. I have been called home—and my home is England—from the Far East."

"When everything went wrong for us in the South I went to Toronto, and thence to Quebec. I enlisted in Her Majesty's service, and I am not an officer of King Edward VII. Of course my heart sometimes yearns for the associates of my boyhood, my old friends, my Washington and Richmond, but that is all of the past and I must not think of it. The destiny of the British empire is mine. I have torn the great republic from my heart as one might pluck any other sentiment one would wish to cherish but cannot."

The two Americans rode together as far as Montreal, but the subject never was referred to again.

No Room for Crinolines.

Times are not dull; there is abundance of news; and yet there creeps into the papers a rumor of impending crinolines. It comes from London, from Paris, from Chicago, from Pittsburgh—that is, the rumor comes, but crinolines doesn't, and won't. The evil-doers who invent crinolines are glad to distribute them, and require more material than made all gowns and dresses. They are changed in order to be just as often as the actual demand. The fashionmongers who are glad to impose crinolines upon the Christian nations (with the exception of the new York for which it cannot be done. They are enough to exist here, but they do not tolerate it. No fashionmonger not do for New York for the United States; so the country is—[Harper's Weekly.]

When Venom is Harmless.

One of the most curious cases of serpent venom is that which seems to be immune to its own venom. If a snake is inoculated with its own venom it remains unaffected. Finally, who has been so much on this subject, finds experimental evidence that this immunity is attributed to the presence in the blood of a free antivenom. This is the poison as it is interpreted by savers.

SAINTLY MAN IN HIS REST.

Eyes of Veterans Dim for Chaplain Beck.

Beloved of Soldiers' Home,
There No More.

Impressive Military Funeral,
Tender Tributes.

With military honors, Rev. Franklin
Beck, chaplain of the Soldiers'
Home, was buried yesterday afternoon.
The funeral was held in the First Metho-veterans from the Home who have been inspired by the gentle life of the saintly man, came to do reverence to

CHAPLAIN F. H. BECK.

In memory of their departed friend and comrade, Rev. Franklin Beck, chaplain of the Soldiers' Home, who passed away on July 10, 1905, at the age of 62 years, a funeral service was held at the First Methodist Church yesterday afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. J. M. Houston, and was attended by a large number of veterans and friends. The body was interred in the Soldiers' Home cemetery.

Rev. Beck was born in New York, and was educated at the Theological Seminary of the Presbyterian Church. He served as pastor of the Methodist Church at Utica, N. Y., and in Burlington,
Vt. He came to Los Angeles in 1893, and was appointed chaplain of the Soldiers' Home. He was a man of great kindness and sympathy, and was beloved by all who knew him.

Sacajawea's name and fame from neg-all the women, for here for the first time a statue is erected in honor of a woman who has played an important part in American history. The fact that this woman was an unlettered Indian merely serves to enhance the romance of the event.

The reading by Mrs. G. H. Pettinger of a notable poem by Bert Hoffman of Pendleton, Or., on Sacajawea, was perhaps the most inspiring incident of the day. The first two stanzas of Mr.
Hoffman's excellent poem follow:
"Behind them toward the rising sun
The traversed wilderness lay;
About them gathered, one by one,
The baffling mysteries of their way:
To westward, yonder, peak on peak,
The glittering ranges rose and fell.
Ah, but among that hundred paths,
Which led aright? Could any tell?

Brave Lewis and immortal Clark!
Bold spirits of that best crusade,
You gave the waiting world the spark
That thronged the empire-paths you made!
But, standing on that snowy height
Where westward yonder peak on peak
The guide who led your hosts aright
Was that barefoot Shoshone girl!"

MORMON CHURCH RULES POLITICS.

Joseph F. Smith Carries Utah's Vote in His Pocket—Gigantic Machine for Corruption of the Ballot. Why Senate Committee Didn't go.

BY IRVING SAYFORD.

(STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

ARTICLE X.

SALT LAKE, July 10.—The most brazen boss in American politics today is Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church. Besides his power to corrupt the ballot, the manipulative ability of a Gorman or a Quay is elemental. Where such as they have succeeded in "moulding" the people's will by long plotting, concealed trades, much sweating and

But about the middle of the campaign the Mormon high-priesthood held a convocation, at which the tenacity of Roberts and Thatcher in presuming to run for national office without the consent of the church governors was the main topic discussed.

PROMPTLY DEFEATED.

They decided that Roberts and Thatcher must be disciplined—Thatcher severely punished. Thus did the hierarchy exhibit its power to make and unmake men.

But that is at best an inadequate and superficial machine which aims to control the votes of legislators; the more fundamental and vicious mechanism is that which subverts the vote of the private citizen. Both these corruptive systems are used with the utmost energy and precision by the Mormon rulers.

We will say that John Brown is a candidate for prosecuting attorney of Boxelder county, Utah, and for several reasons it is advisable in the eyes of the priesthood that he be not elected; first, he is a Gentile; second, he has refused to secretly give the customary pledge to the hierarchy that if elected he will not undertake or permit the prosecution of polygamous Mormons except under the most extreme pressure; third, he is not generally friendly to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints or willing to promote in a civil capacity the material ends of the "Kingdom of God on Earth."

It is decided by the president of the church and his political counselors that John Brown shall be defeated—assuming they had not already prevented his nomination. The command is handed down to the quorum of the twelve apostles (of whom United States Senator Reed Smoot is one). By the disgust of good citizenship and the everlasting shame of the State.

Yet the rulers of the Mormon Church vigorously denounce as liars and scamps all persons who attack that institution and accuse the hierarchy of meddling with and corrupting American politics. "The church has nothing to do with politics," they preposterously proclaim; "this is simply another instance of the persecution to which we have been so long and so unjustly subjected."

CASE OF CHRISTENSEN.

The case of Frank Christensen of Brigham City, which is only a few weeks old, will further illustrate the absolute dictatorship assumed by the Mormon Church over the earthly affairs of its members.

Christensen, a young man of good character with a leaning toward personal independence, was engaged to marry an estimable girl. Both were and are members of the Mormon Church, but neither had nor has become thonged to the priesthood by "going through the temple," i.e., taking the endowments. They desired, in accordance with their religion, to be married in the temple, in order that they might be "sealed" to each other for time and eternity. Therein lay the fiancée's hope of wifehood in the hereafter. A mere civil marriage would be only for time; unless she were "sealed" to her husband it would not be within his power to call her forth on the res-

Lund, Second Counselor to the First Presidency. (2) John Henry Smith, one of the Twelve Apostles; his ill health is given as the cause of his relinquishment of the spiritual management of the Mormon Church to United States Senator Reed Smoot. (3) President Bishop William B. Preston. He is what might be termed the financial secretary of the Mormon Church and nominal custodian of its enormous tithing funds. (4) Brigham H. Roberts, elected from the national House of Representatives as a polygamist. He is one of the most powerful men today in the Mormon Church. (5) Moses Thatcher, whom the church masters disciplined for exercising his personal political independence. He is equipped for all kinds of educational work and teaches zealously the Mormon doctrines. The bus news department alone of this college has 600 students. (6) Senator Reed Smoot's home at Provo, Utah. (7) His bank at Provo. (8) Mrs. Alice Dwyer Russell, daughter of the late James W. Dwyer, of Salt Lake, who is said to have been the only Irishman ever admitted to membership in the Mormon Church. killful buying, the master of all the forms has quietly commanded, and from 500 to 200,000 "Americans" have quietly surrendered to him their votes, according to the size of the Territory of the campaign.

How puny is the power of the average political boss, and how laborious is his methods, beside the dictatorial authority of the "prophet, revealer and seer," whose voice is acknowledged to be the command of God, and whose will in affairs political is as absolute as in things spiritual! Were he, a high-minded man, broad and wise and, nevertheless, with a purpose to pluck his people and filled with a high resolve to do his country good—then is wholesale corruption of municipal, state and national elections would be wicked thing enough; but he is not high-minded nor broad, wise nor sincere, benevolent nor patriotic, and since it is that his political dictatorship is a vicious crime against man and bold blasphemy committed in the name of God.

The Mormon church possesses a political machine as much more effective than Tammany's, as Tammany's more effective than Southern California's. It is gigantic but not bulky, it consists of innumerable parts which can be assembled almost at a moment's notice.

To illustrate: One of the solemn pledges given by the Mormon church order to gain Statehood was that men and forever after it would stand aloof from politics and cease wholly interference with the individual exercise of the ballot. On this and other equally serious pledges—and all which have been ruthlessly broken Utah was admitted to the Union in 1896. Immediately thereafter, Brigham Roberts, a high officer of the church, and Moses Thatcher, one of the twelve apostles, on the understanding that the church had relinquished all political control of its members, accepted respectively the Democratic nomination for Congressman and United States Senator without asking permission of the hierarchy.

Because of the fact that under former Republican national administrations had come the most determined persecutions of the Mormon people for their crimes, Utah was that year Democratic by an overwhelming majority, and Roberts and Thatcher would win and down.

especially, inasmuch as he, accepting in good faith the manifesto of 1890, and the subsequent pledges of the church to abandon polygamy, himself had given up his plural wives and was living in accordance with the law. The president of the church therefore announced to his hierarchical lieutenants that he had received a revelation from God that it was the will of the Lord that Brigham H. Roberts should not be elected to the House of Representatives nor Moses Thatcher to the United States Senate.

You ask what was the result? Roberts and Thatcher, Democratic nominees in a State overwhelmingly Democratic, were defeated. Arthur Brown and Frank J. Cannon, as eleventh-hour nominees of the hierarchy, were elected on the Republican ticket by a Legislature ostensibly Democratic—elected by the direct command of the Mormon rulers backed by a "revelation from God" to the president of the Mormon church, Eugene B. Palmer, city editor of the Salt Lake Herald, (a neutral paper) writing of this episode for an eastern publication recently, said: "Apostle Thatcher was undaunted. He took the ground that no church should assume to dictate his political course. He was a candidate for the Senate before the Legislature of 1897. For days, through hot after ballot he was able to sustain the support of a large number of fearless Mormons, as well as many Gentiles. At last the church threw its vote to Joseph A. Rawlins, an apostate from the church and its opponent in politics—rather than let the principle of independent action in temporal affairs by a prominent churchman, with its consequent influence on lay members, prevail. Rawlins was elected over Thatcher by one vote."

Thatcher was then deprived of his office as apostle, and saved himself from excommunication only by an apology. Brigham H. Roberts, defeated for Congress, saw the light and made his peace. His reward was his election to Congress in 1898—whence he was rejected by that body as a polygamist.

"Moses Thatcher was made a victim as an example to Mormons throughout the world. It was noticed that independence in action contrary to the commands of the priesthood, would be apostolate the order is transmitted to the president of the Boxelder stake (i.e. district) and the presidents of such other stakes, if any, as are included within the territorial boundaries of Boxelder county. The stake presidents summon their bishops and impart the message. The ward bishops call together the block teachers and repeat the instruction. The block teachers visit and inform each Mormon voter in their several respective blocks. Within three days, or less, of the hierarchical decision to destroy the candidacy of John Brown, every Mormon of age in Boxelder county, male and female, has been "advised" that President Joseph F. Smith has received a revelation from God commanding the defeat of John Brown for prosecuting attorney of Boxelder county; and John Brown is duly and effectively defeated.

It frequently happens that at the next succeeding election this same John Brown is again a candidate for the same office—and is carried to victory by the same Mormon majority which two years before had put him down and out. What does it mean? Has John Brown turned Mormon and joined the church? Not at all; he is still a Gentile. But he has "learned his lesson"—he has become a "Jack-Mormon," as they say in Utah. He has bargained with the church; he has given the pledge demanded and two years before refused. He has taken a plural wife and begotten by her a bastard child. Tell him you know the facts and want to prosecute. Demand the right to file a sworn information charging Henry Jones with polygamy and adultery, felonies. Your effort will be wasted. Prosecuting Attorney John Brown will not take the case. He will tell you he is afraid he couldn't make it stick, or that there is no public sentiment in Boxelder county to sustain such a prosecution; or he will bluntly and none too suavely reply that you'd better mind your own business if you don't want to be arrested on a charge of "malicious prosecution."

I do not exaggerate by so much as a syllable. I am merely citing what has happened over and over again in county after county in Utah, to the urriculum morning; in a word, she would cease to be a wife when she died.

In company with two other young men of similar ambition, Frank Christensen presented himself before the authorities of the church for examination as to their fitness to "go through the temple." These questions were propounded, according to the church form prescribed:

(1) Do you believe that Joseph Smith was a true prophet?

(2) Do you believe that the priesthood has the authority to dictate in all things spiritual and temporal?

(3) Will you abide by the decisions of the priesthood in all things spiritual and temporal?

The other two candidates replied affirmatively. Christensen said he was afraid he could not answer satisfactorily. The other two were given their "recommendations" for temple marriage. Christensen was given none. For weeks he and his sweetheart strove together to attain their desire. It was futile. The high priests would not give them church marriage unless he were willing to submit himself to unequivocal allegiance, and he was too much of an American to be willing to swear away his manhood as a "Jack-Mormon."

The outcome? Recently Frank Christensen and his fiancée were married civilly, because their love for each other was the dominating force in their lives. He feels that he has been deprived of a great privilege, one that she has been robbed of one of the most sacred possessions in her faith—the right to eternal life and wifehood in the hereafter.

And this is the United States of America, in the twentieth century.

THE NATION AT HEEL.

"Why has not the Senate Investigating Committee held a sitting at Salt Lake in the Smoot case, as planned?" is a question that has puzzled thousands of people in this country.

The editor-in-chief of the Salt Lake Tribune, himself a former member of the Senate and of the Mormon Church, has, I believe, given the correct answer. That committee has come to the Mormon capital to pursue its investigations a mass of testimony damning to the hierarchy would have been admissible which was not presented.

Washington because of failure to compel the attendance there of important witnesses. It was of the utmost importance to the Mormon masters that the committee be kept as many miles away from Utah as the land permitted.

Appearing before a large public audience in the Salt Lake Theater, during the last national campaign, the editor of the Tribune charged that Republican political managers had entered into a bargain with the Mormon hierarchy that if it would deliver the Mormon vote to Theodore Roosevelt, the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections should not come to Salt Lake.

This startling charge was telegraphed far and wide. Promptly a denial was sent out from Republican national headquarters.

Senator Cannon thereupon publicly repeated the charge, with the added statement that if it were again officially denied he would prove it before the nation. It was not again denied.

The Mormon vote was cast for Roosevelt. The Senate committee has not come to Salt Lake.

Can we, as a people, afford to tolerate the Mormon Church in politics much longer?

THE AWAKENING

Mr. H. E. Huntington has purchased the Redondo Improvement Company's property in its entirety, and has placed the lots upon the market at prices representing their actual intrinsic value.

Redondo is not only a Seaside Resort. It is a Commercial Port and has an assured future.

Mr. Huntington's advent into Los Angeles placed our city ten years ahead of its natural growth. It means very much to Redondo Beach.

The business men of Los Angeles are responding.

They recognize the advantages of a seaboard city.

They appreciate the natural charms of the townsite.

They know of the high character of the citizens of Redondo.

WAVES THREATEN THE WHARF AT LONG BEACH.

Fishermen's Quarters Flooded and One of the Mooring Piles Carried Away—One of City Trustees Proposes to Put Layer of Loose Rock Under Structure.

LONG BEACH, July 11.—The heavy seas on the coast yesterday and today, though unaccompanied by wind or storm, have caused considerable damage to the fishermen's quarters and one of the mooring piles at the Long Beach wharf.

The fishermen's quarters, which are situated on the pier, were flooded by the waves and one of the mooring piles was carried away.

The city trustees have been notified of the damage and one of them has proposed to put a layer of loose rock under the structure to prevent further damage.

The trustees have also ordered that the fishermen's quarters be repaired and that the mooring piles be replaced.

Rheumatism

Like Neuralgia, is now known to be a nervous disease. The kidneys become weak through lack of nerve energy, and fail to filter the uric acid from the blood; this acid attacks and burns the nerves and muscles, and consumes the oil in the joints, producing inflammation, fever, swelling—pain.

To cure Rheumatism, then, you must restore the kidney nerves and muscles, and neutralize the effect of the acid upon the joints and tissues with Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve, a nerve medicine, which has made many cures of this painful disease. Nerve strengthens the kidney nerves and increases the circulation, and relief is assured.

"Before I took Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve, I had been suffering from Rheumatism for 25 years. The last time I was laid up for several months, I could not get out of bed or out of the house. I tried everything, but nothing did me any good. One day I read about Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve, and I bought a bottle. After the first dose I had a good night's rest, and after the second dose I was able to get out of bed. After the third dose I was able to walk, and after the fourth dose I was able to work. I am now well and happy, and I am sure that Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is the best medicine for Rheumatism."

SAN PEDRO.

THE SAY OF SWEDEN.

SAN PEDRO, July 11.—George H. Peck, Vice-Consul for Norway and Sweden, has received the following communication from Stockholm, dated June 29, related to the difference existing between the two countries.

The Norwegian consul, having nominated a provisional government in Norway and declared the union with Sweden to be dissolved, the king has decided to recognize the said provisional government.

"You will therefore continue to transact, in conformity with the regulations in force, all business of the Norwegian consulate affairs, with the restriction, however, that you are not to issue any orders or decrees."

The instructions from King Oscar of Stockholm to George H. Peck, as Vice-Consul for Norway and Sweden, are signed by Aug. Gyldesten of the Foreign Office.

IN SMALL WRECK.

J. S. Allen and his son, a young man, were camping at White's Point near here, had a narrow escape yesterday afternoon from drowning.

The father and son were out in a small boat and when not far from shore encountered the heavy swells which have prevailed for several days.

The boat was overturned and the father and son were thrown overboard. The father was rescued by a passing boat, but the son was not seen.

DAILY REPORT OF ORANGE MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 11.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) California oranges grow gradually weaker under the influence of more or less poor fruit and decreasing demand. Navela are practically unfit for use. Valencia late are coming in from the coast, well as St. Michaels, bloods and seedlings. There is some special trade which is still active, but it is chiefly in small lots. Wholesalers say that buyers are not taking many at a time now, and that the quality is steadily decreasing. Retailers are doing more with deciduous fruit than with anything else at present. Lemons are very high, nothing good being obtainable at less than $5.00 a box.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

ONE of the jolliest hours of the day yesterday were those from 3 until 5 o'clock, at the Country Club, for it was then that the informal ladies' tournament was held and it all ended with an informal tea and chat on the broad and cool verandas. A larger number were present than have been at any other time and a number of visitors also played. A pretty figure on the links was Miss May Banning of St. Paul, who is the guest of Mrs. R. H. Ingram. Miss Banning is a graceful wielder of the club and is a most attractive girl. She recently returned from Europe, where she had been staying in Barcelona for nearly two months. Miss Seymour and Miss Madison Jones were also additions to the players' list. Mrs. Simpson, F. H. Wilson, one of the amateur players, won the first prize, while Miss Carrie Coleman and Mrs. Frank Griffith tied for the second. They have decided to play some time next week to settle the score.

After the game, bridge was played and tea served from a flower-decked table. Those who sat out the tournament table were: Mrs. W. L. Barker, Miss Carrie Coleman, Mr. Howard G. Burren, Mrs. Jack Foster, Mrs. Frank Griffith, Mrs. Curtis Williams, Mrs. Guy Cochran, Mrs. F. R. Frost, Mrs. Simpson, G. Wilson, Mrs. John T. Griffith, Miss Clara Morceau, Mrs. F. H. Seymour of Redondo, Mrs. Frank Griffith, Mr. E. D. Silent, Miss Margaret James and Miss Waddell.

Monday evening members of the young crowd enjoyed a dance at the Country Club, given by the college boys, who are home for a vacation. About seventy guests were present.

Sixteen-Year-Old Bud Weds.
Sweet sixteen and a bride! Fifty years ago when our grandmothers were married, it was not unusual for any fair maid of that time to be wedded before that age, but now it is indeed an infrequent event.

Saturday at noon Miss Margery Lyon, barely sixteen, one of the fairest and sweetest of brides, became the wife of William Searle Farnell, grandson of former Senator Farnell of New York.

The wedding ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. J. Lyon of 1664 South Grand avenue, with Rev. Baker P. Lee officiating.

The drawing-room and library were transformed into a haven of green and white beauty. Over the folding doors an arch of palms was erected and from this to the large bay window an aisle of palms and ferns was laid.

The ceremony took place beneath a canopy of white satin ribbons and asparagus ferns, tied with ivory knots and olive and green wails asparagus ferns and ribbons formed a dainty frieze.

The lights were softly shadowed with white tulle and carnations in baskets and vases about the room added much to the attractive arrangement. In the hall pink and white sweet peas were gracefully arranged.

The handsome girl-bride wore a pretty gown of white chiffon over white silk made in train and trimmed with lace and she carried a bouquet of carnations and maidenhair ferns.

Miss Nele Lyon, sister of the bride was given white silk and acted as bridesmaid. She carried white carnations also.

Felix McGinnis stood with the groom, Sherman Lyon, brother of the bride gave her away. Wedding music was rendered by Miss Alice McCoy of Pasadena and as the party approached the altar, the wedding march, "Lohengrin" was played, while soft strains accompanied the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnell have gone north for a short honeymoon, and their return will make their home here. The bride came with her mother to Los Angeles not quite a year ago and since made the acquaintance of Mr. Farnell, which soon developed into a romance. She came from Lewistown, Idaho. Mr. Farnell is from New York, where he is prominent in the stock connected with the Southern Pacific offices here.

For Miss Meredith.
Miss Janice Meredith of Berkeley was guest of honor last evening at a pretty little dinner given at Casa Verdugo by Miss Lillian Harris of No. 831 South Flower.

Other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Trowbridge, Marvin McKenzie and R. H. Adams.

Pretty Home Wedding.
Miss Sarah Wittenberg and G. S. Ollick were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wittenberg of No. 925 East Ninth street.

Miss Anna Wittenberg acted as maid of honor, and wore white silk with white tulle over tulle, which was decorated with orange blossoms and carried a shower cluster of bride roses.

Miss Esther Wittenberg and Master David Wittenberg, brother and sister of the bride, were attired in dainty costumes of white, and acted as flower girl and ring bearer respectively. Phil Kaufman had charge of music for the service, and as the party approached the altar, the wedding march, "Lohengrin" was played, while soft strains accompanied the ceremony.

The entire home was converted into a room of white flowers and greenery and in the parlors, where the service took place, a canopy of ribbons was arranged, potted palms and ferns were supplied by scarlet hearts strung from the walls and ceiling.

After a short wedding tour, Mr. Ollick and his bride will be at home at No. 112 West Ninth street where they will receive their friends after August 10.

For Children's Playground.
The children of the Castelar and Solano street schools gave a successful and lucrative performance last evening at the Y. M. C. Hall, corner of Downey avenue and Avenue Twenty-one. Small fairies were there in droves and all sorts of pretty pranks and capers they put on, much to the amusement of the audience. The whole affair was under the management of Mrs. J. H. Norton and Mrs. A. M. Foster and the training of the children, which in itself was an arduous task, was undertaken by Miss Grace Norton, herself a talented singer.

The "piece de resistance" of the evening was the little operetta "A Trip to Europe," given by about thirty of the children. In this quaint songs and dances were introduced and many funny complications arose. It all ended well, however, with the sweet little voices reverently lifted as they sang the "Star Spangled Banner," while waving the national colors. Pretty little Olive Moser accompanied the children on the piano. She had just graduated from the eighth grade of the Normal School and gladly offered her services.

IS IT CASE OF MANSLAUGHTER?

WITNESSES GIVE TESTIMONY IN BARBEE HOOK CASE.

All of Them Declare That the Machine Killed Margaret Birtwistle Sounded No Note of Warning and Was Running at High Rate of Speed.

Barbee Hook, son of the late W. S. Hook, who established the Traction Railway system, is on trial in Department One, before Judge B. N. Smith, on a charge of manslaughter for running down with his automobile and killing Miss Margaret Birtwistle at Downey avenue and Avenue 20, on the evening of March 26. Yesterday was the first day of taking testimony, and all day the courtroom was filled with spectators.

Young Hook was attended by his mother, and she was supported by six lady friends. On the other side of Hook sat one of the former officers of the Traction Company. Yesterday afternoon Barbee Hook sat almost motionless in his seat, his head erect and his hands always clasped together in his lap. Scarcely once did he shift his position; but his features were perfectly impassive, although he watched the witness stand as the details of the tragedy of which Margaret Birtwistle was the victim.

E. G. Snow was the first witness. He told what he saw while sitting at a window of his home on the corner where the crash occurred. He declared he did not see the automobile previous to its striking the young woman.

Motorman C. E. Sanborn, who was running a car coming toward the downtown district, testified that Hook's automobile passed his car, coming in the same direction, at Avenue 20 and the left side of the car, and that about a third of the way down the block crossed over and onto the track, running at a rate of about thirty miles an hour. He says he heard no alarm given by Hook's machine, either by bell or horn, and that he saw the accident at Avenue 21.

Conductor C. W. McLeod was in charge of the car on which Miss Birtwistle had ridden from downtown. He described her leaving the car and declared that she passed around the rear of the car, to the right side of the street, that his car started forward, and had gone not more than a couple of car lengths when the automobile rushed past and struck the girl.

"It was not more than two or three seconds from the time that I first saw the auto until the girl was struck," declared this witness. He declared that his attention was attracted to the auto by the sound of its running, but he did not see it until it was too late.

Milton L. Herson of No. 127 East Fifteenth street was motorman on this car. His testimony was that about half past five on the evening of March 26 he saw Hook's machine pass from the south side of the tracks to the north side, and that the machine was about a half block from his car. He says he let his car "drive," when he saw the machine so close, and that he did not see the machine clear across the tracks, but traveled right down the track opposite his car. He did not see the car until it was too late.

Next saw the automobile up against the street curbing. Herson declared that in his judgment the automobile was traveling at a rate of about forty miles an hour when it crossed the car tracks in front of him.

Herson says he has been motorman for six years at the Los Angeles Traction Company, and has had good opportunity to judge the speed of automobiles as they frequent the street, and that he heard no signal from the automobile, either by horn or bell, and that he did not notice any lights on the machine.

Clarence Hanrhan, a grocery solicitor, who resides at No. 1902 Darwin avenue, testified that he was sitting just behind the victim of the accident, and that he watched her as she alighted, and as she was struck by the auto, and that he heard the sound from the auto except that caused by its running.

C. W. Guttridge in the Baker Block, was on the witness stand when the court adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Wade Johnson of Texas, wife of Lieut. Johnson, U.S.A., Mrs. Johnson will remain several weeks with Mrs. Peck.
